

We are excited to be working with Fern Expo as the official show decorator for the services you will need to have a successful event.

You each will be receiving an email with a log in to their site called OneView

OneView is your online portal to view, order, and track all of the elements required to ensure you have a successful event while offering team-based collaboration tools.

If you have any questions or have trouble logging in once you get the email, please contact Jessica Mulheron.
